Regional OSH Profiles

Available on the web both in English and in Russian

Activities of BSN network for implementation of the Strategy

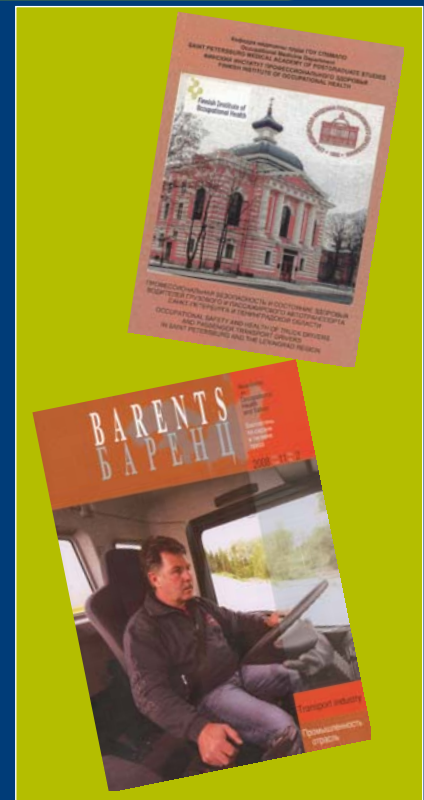

- OSH profiles – Leningrad Oblast, Murmansk and Karelia – in collaboration with ILO Moscow Office and local actors
- Analysis of OHS situation in the RF; acceptance of BOHS approach by the Federal Ministry of Health; BOHS meeting in Karelia – December 2009; further discussions and planning August 2010; piloting 2011
- Initial analysis of the road transport sector in the Leningrad Region; Publishing of the Proceedings; OSH profile in road transport sector in St. Petersburg – profile in Russian ready; finetuning of the English version under way
- Inviting Finnish companies in the St. Petersburg region to join

BOHS

- One proposal is to carry out a BOHS pilot in the Republic of Karelia
- Needs to be built on top of previous activities
- Role of WHO Biennial Country Agreements
- Lessons learnt and a model approach for other regions - Perm, Vologda, Aranhelsk
- BOHS-guideline has been earlier translated into Russian – adaptation of the terminology has been done

IV. Improving health and preventing accidents in high-risk sectors

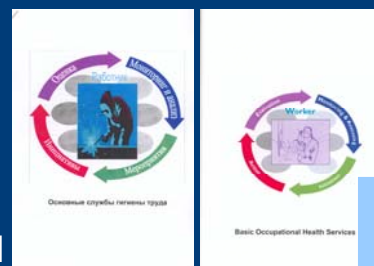

- Training activities - Joint learning of occupational health, public health and labour safety experts
- Health promotion
- Interventions
- Targetting high-risk sectors: transport industry and health care
- The long-term aim is to improve working conditions and decrease work-related morbidity (CVD, blood pressure, etc.)
- 2 Round-Tables – situation analysis of the transport sector in St. Petersburg
- Proceedings of the First published, second under preparation
- Project continues 1.4.2011-31.3.2012
