NDPHS e-Newsletter 2/2015 now available

The Northern Dimension Partnership in Public Health and Social Well-being (NDPHS) is pleased to announce that a new issue of its bi-annual e-Newsletter is now available on the NDPHS website. This issue of the NDPHS e-Newsletter opens with an article about the recently held ministerial-level Partnership Annual Conference (PAC), which adopted a declaration on the growing threat of antimicrobial resistance, the latter being the topic addressed during the PAC side-event held on the day before the Conference. Actions taken by the NDPHS to increase policy and other decision makers' understanding and recognition of the importance of health and social well-being for the economy and other policy areas are presented in one of the articles along with their outcomes.

With three dedicated articles, the focus of this issue is on occupational safety and health (OSH) in the Northern Dimension area. A recent study not only finds that there is severe underreporting of work injuries in the Baltic Sea region, but also that there are conspicuous differences between the countries. Another survey was conducted to investigate the reasons for underreporting and to develop perspectives for improving surveillance systems. Finally, the last article provides a country example and focusses on the role of occupational health services in workplace health and safety management.

Please note that NDPHS e-Newsletters are distributed only in an electronic format and can be downloaded from the NDPHS website at <http://www.ndphs.org/?e-newsletter>.

We wish you an interesting read.
